OCULISTS.

WE the undersigned citizens of Frankfort, Ky. were on the 2d of October last called upon by Dr. J. B. Gentry, to operate upon his wife who was afflicted with a cataract in the left eye. We found her case one of the most virulent character that we ever saw, and pronounced it incurable by treatment for recovery. We, however, visited, and found them all as he had represented. Some time thereafter we were informed that by the operation, and the use of spectacles, she could see with the left eye as well as ever. Since then we have seen her frequently, and have conversed with her upon the subject, and we believe her restored to perfect vision. We therefore recommend him to the patronage of the afflicted in his profession.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Senate resumed the unfinished order of yesterday, being a bill to extend the term of the Court of Appeals, to change the time of holding the same, and to increase the salaries of the Judges of said court.

The question pending was the motion of Mr. HOGAN to strike out $2,500, and insert $2,000, as the salaries of said Judges.

Mr. MACHEN advocated the bill as it came from the committee, and opposed the motion of Mr. HOGAN.

Mr. HOGAN moved to amend his amendment by allowing the Circuit Court Judges a salary of $1,800, instead of that which they now receive.

Mr. Stone advocated the amendment allowing $2,000, instead of $2,500.

Mr. CUNNINGHAM was opposed to striking out, and was in favor of the bill as it came from the committee.

The question being taken upon the amendment to the amendment, it was rejected—yeas, 8; nays, 27.

Mr. DUNLAP offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the time heretofore agreed upon by this House for the report of the Congressional districting committee, be extended to the 30th inst.

Mr MOREHEAD, from the committee on the Judiciary, reported a bill for the benefit of Allanson Moreman of Meade county.

Before any action on the bill, the hour arrived for the order of the day.

SCHOOLS AND SEMINARIES.

The House went into the committee of the whole, upon the bill to amend the Revised Statutes in relation to Schools and Seminaries.

[The bill repeals that provision of the Revised Statutes which requires the Auditor to apportion of the revenue of the School Fund between the counties according to the number of children between 6 and 18 years, as returned by the Assessors, and requires that the apportionment shall be made upon the returns of the School Commissioners; and that the act shall apply to the returns of 1852 and 1853. To this bill Mr. DUNLAP had offered an amendment, making the Assessors' return the bases of the apportionment for those counties and parts of counties for which there should be no returns made by Commissioners.]

The question being immediately upon the amendment offered by Mr. DUNLAP,

Mr. FITCH addressed the committee at length in favor of the bill, contending that the reports of School children by the Assessors were nearly always inaccurate, and often grossly so, and the effect was to diminish in many cases the proportion of money justly due to a county. Mr. F. further contended that the law as it now stood paid a premium upon a refusal to organize under the school law, since the fund being apportioned according to the children in the county, and not according to the children actually taught, and the unused balance re-invested for the benefit of the county, the fewer children there were educated, and the less money used, the more money there would be to re-invest: and that the operation of the law was deleterious upon the school system, and unjust to many of the counties of the State. Mr F. did not believe there was any constitutional impediment in the way of the change in the basis of apportionment which the bill proposed, for the constitution prescribed no mode of distributing the income, but only that each county should be entitled to its share of it.

Mr. HUNT referred to the provision of the constitution which declares that "each county shall be entitled to its share of the income" of the school fund, "and if not called for, for common school purposes, it shall be re-invested from time to time, for the benefit of such county, and argued that the constitution had fixed the number of children in the county," and not the number in school, as the basis, and they had no power to change it.

The failure of the Assessors to make full and accurate returns was an evil which ought to be remedied, and he intended to propose at the proper time, that the Assessors' returns should be taken as the basis, except in case where the number reported by the Assessor is less than that reported by the Commissioners, and in such cases the report of the latter should be the basis. The amendment of Mr. DUNLAP, he thought did not fully meet this difficulty. He was opposed to the bill, without some such amendment as he had suggested.

Mr. WINTERSMITH Speaker proposed a substitute for the bill and amendments.

The substitute repeals the provision of the Revised Statutes requiring trustees of common schools to report the number of children to the Commissioners, and requires them to report to the Clerk of the County Court the names of parents and guardians, with the number of their children within the school ages. It further requires the Clerk, the Assessor and one of the Commissioners to correct such report and the report of the Commissioners, each by the other, and requires the Clerk to make out a statement of the children in each district, which statements shall be the guide of the Commissioners in making reports to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.]

Mr. WINTERSMITH addressed the committee at some length, arguing that the original bill was unconstitutional, and advocating his substitute.

On motion of Mr. DUNLAP, the committee then rose, reported progress, and asked and obtained leave to sit again.

On motion of Mr D, the substitute proposed by the SPEAKER was ordered to be printed.

And then the House adjourned.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

First Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.

The bill granting a pension to the widow of General Jacob Brown, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Douglass moved to take up the Nebraska bill. A debate on that motion then followed.

The consideration of the Nebraska bill was postponed until Monday next.

On motion of Mr. Bayard, the French Spoliation bill was made the special order of the day for Monday week.

After a number of private bills were passed, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—A bill granting alternate sections of land to Alabama for the construction of Railroads, was referred.

Mr. Olds presented a bill to amend the act to reduce postage: was referred.

Mr. Upham reported a bill granting the franking privilege to the Superintendent of the Coast Survey.

Mr. Mace withdrew an amendment to extend the franking privilege to the Superintendent of the Smithsonian Institute, and the bill was passed

Mr Bissel, from the Military committee, reported back the Senate's resolution, authorizing the President to confer the title of Lieut. General by brevet for eminent services, referred to the committee of the whole.

The House then went into committe of the whole on the President's Message.

Mr. Oliver, of Missouri, proceeded to speak on the tonage duties He said he was opposed to the proposed system, because it would work a fundamental change in the policy of the government and overthrow the present system of improving rivers and harbors. He said he was at a loss to comprehe what strange infatuation in the mind of the President induced him to recommend such a policy. It was said that the present system was unconstitutional, but the framers of the constitution did not think so, it was reversed, he said, for the Senator of Illinois, and the gifted President, to pronounce unconstitutional what the framers of the constitution adopted. He said the President's remedy was worse than the disease

Mr. Maxwell spoke on the land policy of the Government, showing its great results in the settlement of the country, and then he proceeded to argue the constitutional right of Congress, to donate alternate sections of land for railroad purposes. When Mr. M. concluded, the committee arose.

Mr Bayley alluded to the death of Mr. Bodisco, the Russian Minister, and move I the House adjourn until Thursday, in order that the members may have an opportunity to attend the funeral to-morrow.

Mr. Benton seconded the motion; adopted, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.

SENATE.—Mr. Cass offered the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to the Senate, as far as he may deem it compatible with the public interest, a copy of any correspondence which may have taken place with the Government of the Papal States, touching a mission to the United States.

Mr Cass alluded to the manifestations of disrespect and outrages perpetrated against this distinguished visitor Sedini, and expressed his entire condemnation of all such proceedings, and avowed his belief that Sedini was innocent of the charges made against him

Mr. Mason took the same ground.

Mr. Butler expressed his surprise—others took the same ground

Mr. Walker, of California, thought it could scarcely be necessary for the resolution to elicit from the Senators a disapproval of violence It could scarcely be necessary to inform the people of their obligations to observe the law, for the great body of the American people knew full well that there was no safety for property or right but the sanctity of the law What could then be the object of the resolution? Was it to tell the people that they might not peaceably assemble to express their opinions and grievances? If so, it would not have its effect, for such was a right too well known to them. And if those people charged with outrage and nothing but assemble peaceably for such a purpose, and if this person be guilty of only one-half of what his own countrymen accused him of, then the people were right in the way they did. [Applause in the galleries.]

Mr. Mason.—I call for order.

Mr. Speaker directed that order be preserved.

Mr. Weller said he knew nothing of the guilt or innocence of this person, and before he could accuse the people of having done wrong, he would have to examine whether he was guilty or not of what his countrymen charged. He well knew that no act could justify violence, but it was useless to attempt to put down the people in their assemblages where they met peaceably to express their horror and indignation for crime, oppression and tyranny.

The resolution was then adopted.

THE ERIE TROUBLES.—The Harrisburg "Keystone" of Wednesday says. "We understand that telegraphic news was received here yesterday to the effect that Judge Irwin, of the United States Court, at Pittsburg, had certified to President Pierce that the process of the United States Court could not be executed at Erie without aid of the military. Gov. Bigler, on this information, proceeded immediately to Washington. It is probable that when he lays the true state of affairs before the President the interference of the General Government will not be deemed necessary." We learn, in confirmation of the above, that Gov. Bigler was in this city yesterday.—Nat. Intelligencer, 20th Jan.

Look Out for the Thief.

A MAN NAMED STROTHER, about 30 years of age, bright complexion, about 5 feet 10 inches high, and weighs about 160 lbs., stole from me, on Tuesday night, about Fifty-Five Dollars, mostly in small bills on the Banks of Kentucky. Said Strother has rather a down look, talks low, and rather lisps. He is a bagging weaver by trade, having learned it in the Penitentiary. Since he came out of the Penitentiary he has been living about Versailles. I will give a suitable reward to any one who will apprehend and secure the thief.

Editors of newspapers will confer a favor by copying the above. I am a poor man, with a large family, and have lost money by the thief I am able to lose, or I would offer to pay for the insertions.

Deaf and Dumb Asylum--Institution for the Blind.

The Louisville Democrat of Wednesday, alluding to some opposition in the House of Representatives to the appropriation of $25,000 to the Institution for the Blind says: "If the member making the opposition, seems to have forgotten, or taken pains not to remember, that the State has already built two institutions for the Deaf and Dumb, which could hardly have cost, each one, less than $50,000." This is a mistake. There are two institutions in the State for Lunatics, and but one institution for the Deaf and Dumb towards the buildings of which the State has contributed only $1,500. The Institution is now applying to the Legislature for aid to enlarge its buildings, demanded by the increase of its number of pupils. The Legislature will no doubt grant the assistance needed by this, the oldest institution for Deaf Mutes in the West, and one whose usefulness is demonstrated by the intelligence and improvement of Mutes educated in it, to be found in all parts of the State.

We hope also to see the proposed appropriation granted to the Institution for the Education of the Blind, passing, as well, that it is no more than is necessary under the circumstances. Benovolent institutions are among the chief honors of a Christian State, and we hope we shall never see the day when Kentucky will stay her hand in giving full efficiency to all such institutions within her borders.

MR. STANTON'S RESPONSE.—Some of the Democratic papers and politicians of Kentucky, have shown a disposition to read Mr. Stanton out of the party, because he will not endorse the Free soil affiliations of the administration. Here is his response, made in one of his "Limestone" letters to the Maysville Express:

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C.,
Jan. 16 h, 1854.

Some sentiments I have expressed in my letters to you, seemed to have aroused the ire of a portion of the press of Kentucky. Their spiteful remarks have neither disturbed me, nor contributed to change my opinions. All I have to say to these gentlemen, is this: that if they have been more cautious and consistent in their devotion to Democratic principles, they, I, or prove in the end more zealous in their support of the Democratic measures of this administration, then I will acknowledge their right to censure us. I have changed no single opinion—the sentiments I now hold are the sentiments of my whole life. I have never ceased for near twenty years, consistently and zealously, to urge them upon the people of Kentucky, and never have known such sentiments before rebuked by the Democratic press of Kentucky. My only sin, if sin I have committed, has been a too zealous and uncompromising hatred of Abolition and Free soil sentiments.

RUMORED CHANGES IN THE CABINET.—The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier has the following in a letter, under date of the 18th inst:

Although it be now determined that A. G. Brown and not Jefferson Davis is elected United States Senator from the State of Mississippi, the Cabinet reorganization, it is asserted, will take place: there will be a different programme, and delay of course, but those high in Executive favor, confidently assert that the re-organization is a "fixed fact."

Mr Guthrie, it is said, has for some time resolved to retire, and the omission, or refusal, of the Democratic members of the Kentucky Legislature to endorse him, has caused him to retire sooner than he first intended. Mr. Cushing will probably promote himself to the Treasury, in case Mr. Guthrie withdraws, and Mr. Breckinridge has been officially advised, in such an event, he can have a seat in the Cabinet Council as Attorney General. Notwithstanding Mr. Secretary Davis failed in his Senatorial aspirations, and undoubting expectations, it is still insisted that he will vacate the War Office on account of all health. This is not idle rumor, but what is promulgated by those who frequent the "White House," and if Franklin Pierce was the President de facto as well as de jure, I should have more faith therein than I now have.

☞MADAME SONTAG had the largest and most fashionable audience on Tuesday night, we ever saw in Frankfort. Her singing came fully up to the highest expectations, and the exquisite performance upon the violin of little Miss Urso made her scarcely less a favorite than even Madame herself.

COLONIZATION MEETING TO NIGHT.—To-night, at the Presbyterian Church, the annual meeting of the Kentucky Colonization Society takes place. Speeches are expected from Judge Kinkead, John W. Stevenson, Esq., W. H. Wadsworth, Esq. and E. S. Fitch, Esq. The meeting can not fail, we think, to be one of rare interest.

FIRES IN LOUISVILLE.—The Catholic Cathedral in Louisville was discovered to be on fire on Tuesday evening. The firemen succeeded in arresting the flames, but not until the damage by the fire and by the efforts to extinguish it were such as to be estimated at $10,000. Among other injuries, pews were broken, and the window lawns and paintings injured.

On the morning of the same day the Tobacco Factory of E. Holbrook, and the Mustard Factory of Tingley & Watts, were totally destroyed by fire. Loss of former $7,000; insurance between $5,000 and $6,000. Of latter $1,000; no insurance. J. C. Miller & Co., painters, next door, were injured to amount of $300.

ADDITIONAL FOREIGN NEWS.—We have the following by the America in addition to what we have already published:

At the customary New Year levee, the Emperor Napoleon addressed the ambassadors, hoping they would be able to retain the relations existing between France and their government, and assured the Ottoman ambassador of his good wishes, sympathy, and efforts for Turkey.

The Times correspondent reports 70,000 Frenchmen ready for the Turkish camp when required.

The War Department states that the number of men available for the army, in the event or a general war, is a quarter of a million for land service.

The current rumor in the political world is that the Czar continues to tempt Napoleon to desert English alliance, and offers to consent to the French annexation of Belgium and Egypt, the Czar promising also to abandon the Bourbon cause.

Sweden and Denmark issue a circular declaring their neutrality, come what may.

Debate on the Clayton and Bulwer Treaty.

We believe the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette has given in the following statement, the substance of the question about which Gen. Cass is making such a pothub.

WASHINGTON, Jan 14, 1854.

The Senatorial caldron, not yet concluded, upon the Clayton and Bulwer Treaty, is to receive attention at farther arrival of the concoctions began by General Cass a week ago; and although it is a part some government and diplomatic information concerning Central America and the region round about, and the manner in dispute lies within the compass of a nut shell, and about which it seems hardly possible there should be two opinions.

The acquisition of California and the discovery of its mineral deposits—the difficulties and dangers of the overland passage and by sea around Cape Horn—rendered it desirable and vastly important to open and secure to the commerce of the world across the Isthmus of Darien and through Central America. Overtures were sent by the Isthmus route in 1849, when we had no other right nor possession by treaty or otherwise to do so. At this time Great Britain exercised a controlling influence in Central America, and she had long occupied the North of the San Juan de Nicaragua, as protectors of the Mosquito Sovereignty. This occupation made it necessary to come to the Pacific insecure, and in case of war, we could send neither passengers or packages to California over any route south of the valley of the Gila.

Under the circumstances, Mr Clayton, the Secretary of State under Gen. Taylor, made a Treaty with Great Britain, with the avowed purpose and intention of securing an inoffensive communication through Central America, for the benefit of all mankind. And to this end the two Governments, among other things, mutually pledged themselves to each other that neither of them would establish or maintain any exclusive authority, or control over, the future communication, or erect or maintain any fortifications commanding it. That neither of them would occupy, fortify, colonize nor assume or exercise dominion over any part of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, the Mosquito Coast, or any other part of Central America, nor use any protection which either affords or may afford, or any alliance it may have with any state or people, for the purpose of erecting such fortifications or colonizing the above named countries."

Such were the important provisions of the Treaty—more immediately advantageous to the United States than any other power—yet a most liberal and honorable compact, with no exclusive privileges, but making the resulting advantages available to all nations.

This treaty was negotiated by and between Mr. Clayton and Mr. Bulwer, in Washington; but when it was sent to London for the approval of the British Government, its terms were so liberal and sweeping, that it was thought advisable, to prevent any subsequent dispute or misunderstanding, that the exchange of ratifications should be made upon the express stipulation, that the Treaty did not contemplate the abandonment, by Great Britain, of her settlement known as the Balize, lying on the Bay of Honduras, and several hundred miles distant from the proposed Isthmian connection. So the British Minister advised Mr. Clayton that the ratification was given upon the express condition that the Treaty had no relation to the Balize or British Honduras, and Mr. Clayton promptly replied that it had no relation to that territory, but that there should be no mistake as to the understanding of the Senate in the bargain, Mr. Clayton applied to the Chairman of the Senate's Committee of Foreign Affairs, and which committee had charge of the Treaty while before the Senate, and asked him, "Did or did not the Senate understand in ratifying the Treaty, that it did not affect in any way the British claim to the Balize?" and Col. King, the Chairman, since Vice President, and now deceased, answered: "To be sure they did understand it." Thereupon, Mr Clayton accepted the British ratification, taking the additional precaution to add, by way of counsel, that the Treaty neither devised or affirmed the claim.—The Treaty neither in its negotiation or ratification had any reference whatever, nor was intended to have, to the Balize or British Honduras, nor with the log-wood cutting possession of the British in that region. The object of our government was to remove the impediments and secure the construction of the Nicaragua Ship Canal communication between the two Oceans—to obtain a shorter, more expeditious, and safer route to our Pacific possessions than the overland and Cape Horn routes; and this object avowedly declared was fully and specifically obtained by the Treaty; and the Balize, so remote and so totally disconnected with the subject and object of the Treaty, had no connection with it, by implication, and was expressly excluded by the ratifying powers.

Thus why is Gen Cass making such a fuss? Why does he persist in saying that the Balize is part and parcel of Central America, in opposition to all approved authorities, and the mutual understanding of statesmen and governments for more than half a century? Why does he assail the veracity or sanity of the late Col. King, and the official integrity of Mr. Clayton? It is because the venerable Michigan Senator has a natural and resistless proclivity for "blundering." He blundered when he "put his foot" into Mr. Webster's diplomatic dish, and received merited castigation; he blundered when he went off "half cocked" for "fifty-four forty or fight," to the embarrassment of the government and the mortification of his party. His political life has been a series of blunders, resulting in the defeat of himself and his party, and now he is persisting in and re-asserting a blundering assumption that the Balize or British Honduras is a part and parcel of Central America.

Mr. Clayton's friends claim that his reply to Gen. Cass was a complete triumph, and that he has utterly annihilated the ten column speech of his assailant. The editor of the Boston Atlas is now in Washington, and in a letter to his paper, says:

"The discussion in the Senate on the Clayton and Bulwer Treaty has been and is the chief theme of conversation at present in this city. The sentiment is universal that Mr. Cass is a used up man, and that Mr. Clayton has come out of the fight with flying colors. The speech which he made yesterday in answer to the one by Mr. Cass the day before, was perfectly terrific, and Mr. Cass showed that he was undergoing the torments. He tried to disguise his pains, but the attempts to hide only made more apparent the fact. He would frequently interrupt the gentleman from Delaware, but everything he said only served to give Mr. Clayton an opportunity for laying on an additional stripe.

The Senate adjourned before Mr. Clayton finished, they evidently thought that it was cruel to have Gen Cass suffer any more at that time. I understand that Clayton has a mass of evidence and an array of facts yet in store which will make even more apparent the disingenuousness of Mr Cass in regard to the treaty, and which will cause him to the last hour of his life to regret that he ever touched the question.

When Mr. Clayton finished the Senators crowded around him and congratulated him on his triumph. Mr. Cass remained alone in his seat with none so poor as to do him reverence. I shall not attempt to give any of the points of the speech. The speech itself will soon be published, and the country will then see how stands the case. A Senator remarked to me last evening that Clayton ought to be indicted for cruelty, and that it was 'unconstitutional' to inflict punishment so severe."

☞Extra copies of the DAILY COMMONWEALTH, put up in single wrappers, can be had at this office, at the rate of $2 per hundred. Members of the Legislature wishing to get papers, will please leave their orders on the day before the issue of the number of the paper they wish.

Mike Walsh upon "Hards" and "Softs," and the Administration.

On Tuesday, the 17th, the House being in committee of the whole, Hon. MIKE WALSH, of New York, took occassion "to clear his conscience" by exposing himself in regard to the "Softs" or Free soil organization of New York, and to the administration which pets them. He threw a good many bricks; we have space to show only a few of them. All accounts agree that his speech, as well as that of Mr. Cutting afterwards, was listened to with marked attention, and interrupted by frequent applause.

Among other things, he said:

Though I have been anxiously desirous that some of my coming associates should give utterance to our views upon this subject, I can no longer remain silent, with a due regard to my own self respect, with a proper appreciation of what is due to me and the noble and devoted party, whose services, and sacrifices, and undeviating devotion to principle, will live in the hearts of all true and patriotic men long after the corrupt coalition in which now carrion is as resolved back to the earth, the elements of which it is composed, and the official skeletons of their hungry leaders are left dangling upon the gibbets to which public execration and condemnation have consigned them—yes, consigned them as an impressive warning to all political malefactors. [Laughter.] Sir, we have suffered, in the estimation of many, the most ignominious and flagrant wrongs, and the most preserving prosecutions, from those we have elevated to power, upon principles which they loudly profess in theory, but which, I regret to say, they have sacrificed, if not shamefully violated in practice. Every opportunity has been afforded them to retrieve their blunders, and to make reparation as far as the case will now admit, for the unexampled outrages perpetrated upon us. Instead of accepting the golden opportunity thus generously presented, they have, with a most wilful obtuseness, construed our forbearance into cowardice—our magnanimity to slavish acquiescence.

Sir, notwithstanding the bitter lesson administered by the result of our last election in the State of New York—a lesson which, to men not maniacated with power, is awfully conferred, but still more unwisely, if not ingratefully, exercised, would I have been as instructive as it was unexpected—the administration still seems egregiously to deliberate and totally misunderstand the true character of the men with whom they have been so long and stupidly trifling.

* * * * * * *

For President Pierce I entertain, personally, a very high degree of regard, more particularly if he were simply a citizen, and not a President. He is a very kind, agreeable man, and he is what the Dukes would term a very polite, affable, and pleasant gentleman—far more so, I am afraid, than I will ever be my lot to be considered. He has always treated me with marked kindness and seeming confidence, but since I have ascertained that this is generally his disposition to everybody, I must be compelled to take off an extra bogey else not for the compliment to myself. Laughter.]

He reminds me of that English commander to whom Napoleon sent an insult on board of the Bellerophon. When he came into England, Napoleon was very anxious to have an interview with the king of Great Britain, and asked permission of the ministers who were sent to see him. They asked the commander who came over with him from France whether such a step would be politic? "By no means," said he. "Why?" "Because, if you allow them to have five minutes conversation, they will become the best friends in the world. D—n it, sir, it will never do."

Now, sir, it is in consequence of my own quiet, susceptible nature, when I have to do with those of my own sex—and Heaven knows what would be the effect were it with those of the opposite sex—laughter]—that I have studiously avoided calling upon the President of the United States since the opening of the present session of Congress. From what I have said, I presume every gentleman will infer that I am not going to use any unkind expression towards that high functionary. I am simply going to set forth a few facts before the House, and then allow them to draw their own reference.

* * * * * * *

Sir, the position which the New York democracy have occupied before the country has been grossly and shamelessly misrepresented. This contest, which had its final issue in the last election, commenced in 1844. The men who were instrumental in defeating General Cass in 1848, had then arrayed themselves against the admission of Texas, or rather against its annexation to the United States. The men who figure as the "softs" in New York now, are those who attended and took part in the anti-annexation meeting at the Tabernacle in 1844, and are the men who then got up the secret circular in the State of New York, calling upon their friends, while they voted for Silas Wright for Governor, to vote against James K. Polk for President; the result of which was, that the Democratic vote for President ran far behind that for Governor of the State; and had this organization—this treacherous organization—been made as perfect then as it was in 1848, the result of their treasonable efforts would have been quite as successful.

* * * * * * * *

And here let me tell the gentlemen that if they suppose that the opposition to the administration comes from men who have been disappointed office seekers, they sadly underrate the character of the men with whom they have to deal. If they suppose there is any disposition upon the part of the Democracy of the State of New York to make war upon the administration, they are wrong. But when the administration undertook to interfere in our local elections—when they sent forth the mandate that Greene C. Bronson must do their dirty work—and if they were deceived in Mr. Bronson's character it was their own fault—if they expected to find a poor, servile tool in Judge Bronson, and found an honorable, high minded man, it was their fault, not ours; when they uttered a threat to interfere in our elections, under the miserable expectation that we were weak, and our adversaries were strong—we heard the mandate in sorrow—we hurled back the threat with contemptuous indignation; we defied its power, and ultimately triumphed to our hearts' content. We triumphed, sir, against all the power, and all the appliances of the administration.

And let me tell the friends of the administration in this House now, that when the next election comes they will find that triumph ten times more signal than it was before. Those who were Barnburners in 1848 are now what are called "Softs." [Laughter.] Well, what is a "Soft?" We are called "Hards." The best illustration of anything hard is a diamond. It is a fair representation of our purity and our hardness. [Laughter.] We all know what soft means in morals. A man soft in morals is open to any rascality. [Laughter.] A "Soft" in politics is pretty much the same thing. We all know what is meant by a man with a soft head. Such a one is intellectually soft. A "Soft" is simply an individual whose morals and politics are of the putty character, and who is ready to accommodate himself to any form which promises profit. [Laughter.]

Mr. SMITH, of Ala., asked what is the difference between a "Hard" and a "Soft?"

Mr. WALSH replied: "The difference is the difference between an honest man and a rogue."

Dr. R. G. Smith, of Philadelphia, who has been missing since 28th December, was on the afternoon of Friday, January 13th, accidently discovered dead in an upper room on Exchange place, Philadelphia. The room was locked on the inside. A quantity of rags had been burnt in the room, and it is supposed suffocated the deceased.

PROCLAMATION OF THE PRESIDENT AGAINST THE CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.—The Union of the 15th contained the following Proclamation:

OFFICIAL.

By the President of the United States.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas information has been received by me that a military expedition has been fitted out in the State of California, with a view to invade Mexico, and that many of the officers and men composing said expedition have been engaged in like unlawful enterprises against the United States; and that other expeditions are organizing within the United States for the same unlawful purpose; and whereas such enterprises, if carried on from this country, would be fruitful of the most disgraceful and disastrous consequences to the character and best interests of this country, would involve the violation of the obligations and duties and of the rights of a friendly power, have a tendency to, and are calculated to, put in peril the cherished principles of our constitution, and bring down upon our country the just reprobation of the whole civilized world; and whereas the laws of the United States have wisely provided adequate means to prevent the fitting out and departure from the territory and jurisdiction of the United States of any such unlawful expedition, and have also provided adequate means to prevent the violation of the neutrality of the United States by such enterprises, and have given to the Executive the most superior order [illegible] given;

Now, therefore, I, FRANKLIN PIERCE, President of the United States, have issued this my proclamation, warning all persons who shall set out to connect themselves with any such enterprise or expedition that the penalties of the law denounced against such criminal conduct will be rigidly enforced; and I exhort all good citizens, as they regard our national character, as they respect our laws or the laws of nations, as they value the blessings of peace and the welfare of their country, to discountenance, and by all lawful means prevent, such criminal enterprise; and I call upon all officers of this Government, civil and military, to use any efforts which may be in their power to arrest for trial and punishment every such offender.

Given under my hand and seal of the United States, of Washington, this eighteenth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty four, and the seventy eight of the independence of the United States.

{L. S.} FRANKLIN PIERCE.

By the President:
W. L. MARCY, Secretary of State.

The President is right. But there are two interesting questions which this document suggests: 1. What is to become of the consistency of those Democratic editors who denounced President Fillmore for his proclamation against the Cuba Filibusters, but who are bound to eulogize President Pierce now for one of the same sort? 2. Where were the United States officials of California, when at least two of these Filibustering expeditions sailed lately without concealment from San Francisco?

TERMS:

Cash Buyers will receive a discount of SIX per cent., if the money be paid in par funds within ten days from date of bill.

They ask from Merchants visiting the Eastern cities, the favor of an examination of their stock, being satisfied that they will be convinced that it is not their interest to pay large profits that are ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL to those who give long credits.

2.
The Edinburgh Review, Whig.
3.
The North British Review, Free Church.
4
The Westminster Review, Liberal.
5.
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, Tory.

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1851. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items, crude speculations, and the flying rumors of the daily Journals and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:

For any one of the four Reviews,	$3 00	per ann.
For any two	do. 5 00	per "
For any three	do. 7 00	per "
For all four of the Reviews,	8 00	per "
For Blackwood's Magazine,	3 00	per "
For Blackwood and three Reviews,	9 00	per "
For Blackwood and the 4 Reviews.	10 00	per "

Payments to be made in all cases in advance. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty five per cent. from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. CAN always be obtained on inquiry at
Sept 23. DR. MILLS' DRUG STORE,

DR. URBAN'S
ANTI-BACCHANALIAN ELIXIR,
A SAFE AND SURE REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF INTEMPERANCE.

IT is not in vain to be sometimes to the system. It is pleasant to the taste, and we trust that it will prove a perfect success in the directions. It destroys the desire for all ardent spirits when strictly taken according to directions, and will restore the individual to the same state of sobriety in which he was before he ever drank a drop of the ardent, and he will not have the least desire for intoxicating drinks.

Intemperance is a disease, and as such the Great Physician in ordaining the use of ardent spirits as the cause of disease, and to such a Remedy is presented as the token of Grace—the oil of consolation, peace and perfect rest to the soul.

The one fully developed is the disease, the more salutary and powerful the effects of this Elixir, in order destroy the appetite for ardent spirits, and restore the tone of the stomach to its healthy action as it was before making a use of ardent spirits and when intemperance has assumed the diseased form, reason is necessarily dethroned, the will to a certain extent becomes insubordinate, until often, alas! many have passed the bounds of sober restraint, and though they may desire, in their sober moments, to at once do the use of that which is so rapidly proving their bane, they cannot, unaided, and no aid has ever been tendered such, with success, until the discovery of Dr. Urban's never failing Anti-Bacchanalian Elixir; since which time none are left without excuse, as the means necessary to destroy the taste, or I might say overcome the poisonous craving and temptation of the appetite, are placed within every man's reach; these the drunkard must do or by a choice, and no, of necessity—it matters not how dear it may now be.

As the Elixir is a most powerful purifier, of the blood, the seat of all diseases, it has long used with great success, and is highly recommended in cases of Delirium Tremens, Dyspepsia, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, Liver Complaints, General Debility, Piles, and all kinds of Fevers. It is the best alterative known.

☞ The Anti Bacchanalian is neatly put up and labelled, with full directions accompanying each bottle Price $3 per bottle. On the receipt of the above sum it will be sent, free of charge, to any part of the United States. All letters to be prepaid. To be had from all the principal Druggists in the United States.

A. URBAN, M. D.

DR. URBAN'S
VEGETABLE FEVER AND AGUE
POWDERS:

The only sure remedy ever known for Chills and Fever, and warranted to cure, in all cases, if taken according to directions.

It cures, when taken according to directions, in TWENTY MINUTES, leaving no fever after the Chill, very seldom requiring more than ONE DOSE to make a PERMANENT CURE. A great number of cases, from two to five years standing, have been CURED with the FIRST DOSE, and the Chill has never, as yet returned. The beauty of this medicine is, that it stops the Chill in TWENTY MINUTES, or less, and the patient will be entirely clear from Fever after the Chill, which is not the case when any other medicine is used, it has super seded all other preparations wherever it has been introduced.

Read what the Editors of the Louisville Democrat say from their own observation:

"Dr Urban's medicine for the cure of Chills and fever has effected some wonderful cures in our own office. A young man who has resided for several years in Louisiana, reached New Albany a few weeks since, worn and emaciated—literally worn out physically, with long continued chills and fever. He made a short stay at the house of Judge Smith, where his old disease continued with no less severity than at home in Louisiana. Having exhausted almost every remedy known to the medical profession, he procured a box of Dr. Urban's celebrated medicine, and after taking two powders was entirely relieved and restored to health. He has been well ever since—says his health has not been as good for several years, and is now less regarding his former vigor and the rosy cheeks he was wont to wear.

This medicine can be had at the manufacturers' Depot 65 Third Street, between Main and Market, Louisville, Kentucky, wholesale and retail.

A. URBAN M. D.

☞ On the receipt of $1 the Powders will be sent, free of charge, to any part of the U. States. It may also be obtained of all the principal Druggists in the country. J. M. MILLS, Agent for Frankfort.

Atmospheric and Suction Pump.

This description of Pump is generally well known; they perform well only in shallow wells or cisterns, but have the ability to freeze; renders them troublesome.

The Suction and Force Pump.

Earthen Tubes,

A new invention for sewers and drains, costing only six cents per foot—easily put down and very durable; certainly the best and cheapest drain ever invented.
